PUPILS GIVE LUNCHEON.

Interesting Event at Force School for Playground Benefit.

A luncheon was given yesterday by the pupils of Force School, in Massachusetts avenue, for the purpose of raising funds for the improvement and extension of the playground.

The luncheon was a pronounced success, and the amount raised exceeded all expectations. Several hundred tickets, at 5 and 10 cents each, were sold in advance, and in addition to this ice cream, cake, candy, lemonade, and other refreshments were on sale in the class rooms.

Another feature was an auction sale of drawings and water colors painted by members of the class, many of the youthful artists showing considerable talent. Prizes, consisting of a scarf pin for the boy and a collar pin for the girl, were offered for the best drawing. These were won by Philip Gannon and Dorothy Decker. Honorary mention was given to Dorothy Crawford, Caroline Stoge, and Elphale Andrews.

Other prizes, including a silk banner and first use of the playground, were offered for the largest number of tickets sold. The result was a tie for first place between the sixth and seventh grades, each having sold 75 worth. The entertainment was conducted under the direction of Miss C. L. Garrison, principal, assisted by the teachers.

MRS. HUGHES WEDS

Daughter of Former Gov. Brown a Bride.

A. E. DIETERICH THE GROOM

Wedding Is a Big Surprise, and Was Quietly Performed at the Bride's Home in Baltimore—Engagement a Short One—Groom a Wealthy New Yorker—Always Prominent.

Baltimore, Md., May 26.—Mrs. Gordon Taylor Hughes, formerly Miss May Brown, the handsome and accomplished daughter of City Collector Frank Brown, former governor of the State, and who has figured prominently in Baltimore society, startled the innermost circles of the fashionable Baltimore world to-day by entering into the matrimonial estate for a second time. Mr. Gordon Taylor Hughes, the first husband, died in April, 1907.

The man to whom Mrs. Brown was married to-day at noon in the parlor of her father's home, on North Charles street, is Alfred Elliott Dieterich, a prominent business and society man of New York City.

Every measure for secrecy in the celebration of the wedding was observed by Mrs. Hughes, her father, and the family of ex-Gov. Brown, so that even the most intimate friends of the family here were not aware of the affair until after the ceremony and the couple were ready to start on their trip to New York.

Few Saw Ceremony.

There were no persons at the service except the members of the immediate families. Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Dieterich, Frank Brown, Jr., the brother of the bride, and the family servants. There was no elaborate preparation or decoration. Gov. Brown declaring that, just as on her first marriage, Mrs. Hughes desired the affair to be carried out as quietly as possible.

Mr. Dieterich, the groom, is a well-known man of affairs in New York City, and his home is at 905 Fifth avenue. Ex-Gov. Brown said to-day that, while the engagement of Mr. Dieterich and Mrs. Hughes has been a short one, they had known each other for several years, and that he had known for some time that they were to be married. The young people, however, on their part, kept their secret exceedingly well, and, while there have been rumors, practically no one outside of the family knew the ceremony was to take place to-day.

The acquaintance of Mr. Dieterich and Mrs. Hughes, ex-Gov. Brown said to-day, dated from some years ago, when they had been chosen together in the directorate of people among whom Mr. and Mrs. Hughes moved in New York. Of late the young people have been seen together quite a great deal, and recently they were members of a jolly party of friends at the Atlantic City Hotel. Mrs. Hughes has for the past several years been spending her time alternately between Baltimore and New York.

Always Prominent.

The "coming-out" of Miss May Brown, the courtship of Baron Lehmann, who was rejected by Miss Brown in her "first season," her subsequent marriage to Gordon Taylor Hughes, of New York, and his sudden death, just two years ago, have given her public prominence such as has been given to few women so young. She has probably been the most written and talked of woman in Baltimore.

Mrs. Dieterich was born at Springfield, Carroll County, and when but thirteen years old came into prominence during her father's term as governor, when, owing to the illness of her mother, many of the duties as mistress of the executive mansion devolved upon her.

She was educated at a fashionable school in this city, and after attending a finishing school in New York, traveled extensively abroad, so that when she made her debut she had all that culture and sparkle which an American girl can acquire. She speaks German and French fluently, is literary and musical, and quite fond of outdoor sports.

CHANGE SCENE OF LAWN FETE.

Entertainment for Hospital to Be Held in Arlington Hotel.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, the board of lady managers of the Episcopal Eye, Ear, and Throat Hospital has decided to hold its annual lawn fete indoors, and has chosen the Arlington Hotel for the scene.

Dancing will be an added attraction to the original plans, and the hours extended from 4 to 11 o'clock. Music will be furnished by a string orchestra from Fort Myer, and on Friday afternoon and evening by the Engineers' Band Orchestra. Mrs. Judson C. Clements, "Little Bo Peep," and her ladies, will transfer their hay stack to the mirrored ballroom of the hotel, and Mrs. A. D. van der Veer, with a corps of assistants from St. Andrew's, St. Mark's, Christ Church, navy yard, Rock Creek Chapel of the Good Shepherd, St. Alban's, and the Silver Spring Church, Maryland, will preside over the evening both days, supplementing their own supper menu with hot coffee, served by Mrs. R. P. Williams and the following committee of Trinity Church ladies: Miss Lillie A. Acker, Mrs. W. R. Myers, Mrs. Percy G. Smith, Mrs. W. M. Stewart, and Mrs. H. Walbridge.

The friendly rivalry between the Episcopal Church committee and that of St. John's church committee, which was to have found its denouement on Col. Truesdell's lawn, will be continued in rooms where affairs of state were oftentimes settled in the long ago, when that end of the Arlington was occupied as the private residence of statesmen.

There also will be sweets to the "sweet," lemonade, and fruit punch for the thirsty, and a good time to all who go to the "indoor lawn fete" at the hotel in lieu of the long-anticipated fete at Col. Truesdell's.

GRIDIRON CLUB'S OUTING.

Home from Two Days' Stay at the Blue Ridge Club.

The Gridiron Club's two days' outing at Harpers Ferry, as the guest of President E. J. Stellwagen, of the Blue Ridge Rod and Gun Club, ended last evening, when the party, with Speaker Cannon, Senator Newlands, and a number of well-known Washington business men returned to the city by special Pullman train.

Although a drizzling rain kept the visitors indoors or on the porches, the second day of the hospitable club house abounded with comforts, and every minute of the time was enjoyably spent. The outing was perfectly planned in all its details, and Gridironers and fellow-guests came home heartily enthusiastic over the Blue Ridge Club, whose president had entertained them so handsomely.
